

I'm Afraid of Pizza

- A Can I tell you a secret?
- B Sure. I can keep a secret.
- A I'm afraid of pizza ...
- B What?
- A I said I'm afraid of pizza!
- B But pizza can't hurt you! Pizza is good, and nice, and friendly.
- A No! Pizza is extremely dangerous!
- B How can pizza be dangerous?
- A A slice of pizza has a sharp point like a knife! It can stab you!
- B Maybe it's pointy, but it's not sharp!
- A And pizza can be very hot! It can burn you!
- B But you can have round pizza, like a little mini-pizza. Round pizza doesn't have a sharp point.
- A It's still hot.
- B You can eat cold pizza. My Grandpa Bob eats cold pizza all the time. He says cold pizza is delicious.
- A It's still scary.
- B Don't be afraid. Pizza was invented to help us. You have to make friends with pizza.

Get Off The Phone

- A Will you do me a favor?
- B I guess. What is it?
- A Will you put away your phone?
- B Yeah, okay. Just a minute.
- A Come on. Put it away. I'm trying to talk with you.
- B Just a second. I have to finish sending this text.
- A Excuse me! Excuse me! Will you please put that away? I'm trying to have a human being conversation with you!
- B What is your problem today?! I'm sitting right here with you, and we're having a conversation!
- A You're talking, but you're not even looking at me. You're looking at your phone.
- B I can do two things together at the same time.
- A But I have something important to tell you.
- B What?
- A I have something very important to talk with you about.
- B Uh ... yeah, okay. Go ahead. I'm listening.
- A Never mind ... I'll send you a text.
- B Huh? What did you say?
