

Arrested

EXT. IN FRONT OF THE SCHOOL

MALCOLM IS LEAVING SCHOOL WHEN HE ACCIDENTALLY DROPS HIS PAPERS.

MALCOLM

Shoot.

MALCOLM BENDS DOWN TO GET HIS PAPERS WHEN KENNY RUNS ON.

KENNY

Hold it right there. You're under arrest.

MALCOLM

What?

KENNY

Don't move or I'll have to call for backup.

MALCOLM

What are you talking about?

KENNY

You, my friend, are under arrest for littering school property. Now give me your name before I also charge you with resisting arrest.

MALCOLM

I didn't litter! I just dropped these papers.

KENNY

Yeah? Tell that to the judge. (Pulling out his ticket book) Now what is your name?

MALCOLM

Malcolm Harper. Hey, why are you writing all this down?

KENNY

To put on your record. Now you have the right to remain silent...

MALCOLM

Wait, you can't arrest me. You're just a kid.

KENNY

A kid who is making a citizen's arrest.

MALCOLM

A what?

KENNY

That's what you do if you're not a policeman. Now where was I? Shoot, now you've made me lose my place. Okay, I'm starting back at the beginning. You have the right to remain silent...

MALCOLM

Hold it! You can't arrest me, I'm arresting you.

KENNY

For what?

MALCOLM

(Trying to think of something) For... uh...not tucking in your shirt on school property.

KENNY

That's not a law.

MALCOLM

Tell that to the judge. Now what is your name?

KENNY

Kenny Michaels.

MALCOLM

Well, Kenny you have the right to remain silent....

KENNY

(Falling on his knees) Wait! Please don't take me to jail. I can't be locked up. It will embarrass my family and ruin my grades. And I'll lose weight 'cause jail food is really horrible. Please, please don't arrest me.
