

Do You Know What Winston Churchill Said?

- A Do you know what Winston Churchill said?
- B I don't even know who he is. How should I know what he said?
- A He was supposed to be the greatest leader of the twentieth century. He said we should never give up. Never, ever give up.
- B How did he say it?
- A Never, ever give up! Sometimes he yelled it.
- B Why did he yell it?
- A To grab people's attention. Make sure they're listening.
- B Yeah. Some people don't listen to anything. That's why they never learn anything.
- A My dad says we should try to learn something new every day.
- B Does your dad know Winston Churchill?
- A No, no, no. Dad bought me this great book about him. Winston Churchill actually lived a long time ago. He was the Prime Minister of England.
- B What's a Prime Minister?
- A Leader of the country. Like a President.
- B He was British?

- A Yeah, but his mom was American, so that makes him half American too. My dad says the United States should get credit for half the good things he did.
- B That's kinda funny.
- A My dad's just joking around. He always does stuff like that. He tries to make learning new stuff fun.
- B Does it work?
- A You tell me. Here we are, two kids talking to each other about Winston Churchill instead of video games.
- B That's true. What do you think your dad would say about that?
- A Never, ever give up!
